

re:center

center was established in 2012 by theCHURCH with a vision to seek the welfare of our community beyond a Sunday service and address the untreated trauma plaguing our community. It began as a receptionist engaging in client resource education and navigation for those who walked through the office doors and an invite to participate in local drug court to help clients maintain sobriety and complete court requirements. Through miraculous giving, theCHURCH was able to move to a more prominent location to expand the RE:center's work. In 2019, the RE:center was established as a separate nonprofit organization; we opened the RE:center fully financially funded by theCHURCH.

we work to stop the cycle of generational trauma and poverty in our community's individuals. Every individual deserves the opportunity to be empowered to succeed in our schools, businesses, community functions, and churches. To end community and individual trauma, the RE:center uses community collaborative and data-driven processes and programs to reduce Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and support adults. Today, theCHURCH continues to be a vital partner in our work, now made possible through the expanded support of our community partners. Together, we provide services that are crucial for survival and thriving, and have been shown to increase families' financial self-sufficiency. The RE:center is committed to connecting families to these services through our community partners, and the Survive-to-Thrive Initiative. If a service is not available, the RE:center focuses on developing new programs or bringing in established agencies to fill the gaps. We are a community center for the White Mountains of Arizona.
